Never leave yourself behind...

“Be there for others, but never leave yourself behind”

Wrap your talking gear around this...

- Is it easy to get so busy looking after other people online and offline too, that you forget to think about yourself and your own needs?
- Do you think you can feel worn out if you look out for others all the time and forget to look out for yourself?
- What other feelings do you get if you do lots of things for others who don't reciprocate or think to look out for you?
- What can you do when you're online to make sure that you look after yourself as much as you look after others?
- Is it the same looking after yourself online as looking after yourself offline?
- Who's in charge of looking out for you?
